Footnotes
MARILYN'S GUY got off a beat slowly, was swung three wide leaving the opening bend, remained unhurried for a good portion of the way down the backstretch, got let out a notch and instantly picked up interest, cleared a pair just past the half mile pole and unleashed a three wide challenge nearing the five-sixteenths pole, went by the former pacesetter in tandem with SAN PABLO as a spirited tussle with that opponent commenced, battled hard from upper to midstretch, yet was unable to go by, continued onward with fortitude, finally poked a head in front in deep stretch and dug in resolutely to keep it there for the decision. SAN PABLO took up a forward post after the start, sat patiently parked in the two path, latched on to ISN'T HE PERFECT for over a half, crept up to that foe, with the top one also moving up menacingly just to his outside, pounced upon and overtook the leader after going three-quarters, together with the eventual winner, raced head to head from that station to the wire, desperately clung to the slimmest of margins until the late stages, fell back a sliver and had to settle for being second best. LINEBACKER rode the rail until the five-sixteenths pole, vacated the premises just as ISN'T HE PERFECT was being displaced on the lead, was under a drive swinging three wide into upper stretch, came home with good, but belated, energy to garner show honors. ISN'T HE PERFECT was energetically handled leaving the starting gate to grab the lead, set the opening splits from the rail, feeling the presence of the second place finisher all the while, came under heavy pressure leaving midpoint on the far turn, yielded despite being asked for run and steadily tired. DAY OF DESTINY was off the inside throughout, stalked the front runners under a firm hold for much of the initial half, was asked for a response prior to being placed three wide at the five-sixteenths pole, couldn't keep pace with the two pair and tired after turning for home.
