Footnotes
PARK CITY away from the starting gate with no apparent mishap, was under hand encouragement for most of the way down the backstretch, came out just past the half mile pole, resulting in the rider taking a good hold on the reins, settled down and had just made it back into the three path when he shied away from the jumping antics being displayed by the runner up at that juncture, once again got going more professionally in short order, entered the stretch from four path driving, closed ground readily on the front runners, despite taking a long zig zag course from the three-sixteenths pole to the furlong marker, continued onward, grabbed away the lead a few strides before the end and kicked clear, crossing the wire under hand urging. STAGE STREET got turned sideways just out of the starting gate, shook off the incident and assumed a forward position, took the inside route nearly throughout, appeared to jump a puddle midway around the turn, crossing into the two path while doing so, ducked back to the rail a sixteenth later, was let out a notch and made a quick move coming to the quarter pole to overhaul COACH A. J. as that opponent was failing to keep a straight course, edged away from the competition, leaving the furlong grounds holding his biggest advantage, dug in well before caught by the winner. COACH A. J. was hustled to the front, vied for command while placed in the two path, sputtered nearing the end of the bend, drifting out a path or so heading into the lane, weakened steadily while proceeding his way to the finish line. TITLETOWN FIVE asked for some run leaving the gate, contested the pace three wide until the head of the stretch before backing away. VOLASTIC off the inside, lacked the necessary stretch response. MONEY IN RETURN came inward bumping with CIRCADIA and carrying that one into the second place finisher soon afterwards, raced along the bend kept at a slight distance from off the rail, came under encouragement by the three-eighths pole, tired. CIRCADIA bumped between rivals at the start, was hard used early, failed to hitch up to the others while trailing throughout.
