Footnotes
DREAMINGLY assumed a forward position after the start, was lightly coaxed stalking the pacesetter from the outside, ranged up to the leader soon after departing the backstretch, drew abreast by the five-sixteenths pole, dueled head from that station until midstretch, had no soon shaken free when the runner up arrived on the scene, displayed good determination to fend off that opponent for the decision. BRILLIANT FUTURE tracked the front runners from the inside, angled out during the stretch run, finished with good energy, but missed. LILY THE PINK unhurried along the outside for nearly three-quarters, charged down the center of the course to secure the show. OSTENSIBLY bumped with STORM PALM at the start, was taken in hand and darted over to the inside, vacated the premises coming to the half mile pole, commenced her stretch drive four wide at the top of the stretch and came home willingly en route for the last major share. ZALMARA sat reserved from off the inside in midpack for the initial half, got placed in the three path gearing up for the stretch run, eventually spun five wide into upper stretch for optimal racing clearance, displayed a good kick to improve position. STORM PALM (ARG) made solid contact with OSTENSIBLY leaving the starting gate, settled along the inside in time for the run around the opening bend, steadied off another's heels nearing the end of that turn, remained within range from the inside throughout the opening six furlongs, lacked the needed response when asked in upper stretch. FIRE ASSAY three wide on the first turn, tucked one path closer to the inside upon entering the backstretch, stalked the pacesetter for three-quarters before backing away. STARSHIP WARPSPEED broke well, cleared the field to grab the front and was taken over to the inside just prior to reaching the opening bend, showed the way on a loosely-contested lead initially, but felt some heat by the seven-sixteenths pole, had the winner look her in the eye about a furlong later, sparred with that rival, only heads apart all the while, until the eighth pole, tired steadily thereafter. HOTKITTYINTHECITY (IRE) stumbled badly at the start and was outrun. WALKINGONBROADWAY stumbled badly at the start, failed to settle into proper stride, was eased, pulled up and subsequently vanned off.
