Footnotes

MARGARET OWNZIT shook free of brief pace factor FRONT COVER DREAM along with the runner up by midpoint down the backstretch, glided her way over to the rail as the opening fraction was being completed, argued for command on nearly even terms with the second place finisher, lightly hand urged just like the chief nemesis, got called upon for much more, as was her fellow combatant as the pair spun into the lane, forged her way to the slimmest of advantages between the furlong marker and the sixteenth pole then dug in gamely to preserve it. SWEET ABANDON drifted out slightly after being sent on her way, assumed a prominent position and hooked up in a tussle with the winner a furlong into the event, migrated closer to the inside, following the lead of the top one, coming to the end of the backstretch, raced as a team with that opponent, rider holding something in reserve for the stretch run, got asked for a response spinning into the lane, still in possession of a narrow lead, lost it past the eighth pole, fought hard to re claim it, but got denied. FRONT COVER DREAM briefly between the top twosome during the very initial stages, chased them from the two path around the turn, proved no match. ZIMBABWE LADY three wide entering the turn, was four wide exiting it, lacked the needed response. KISS CAT steadied after shying out from mild pressure from the next door breaker, raced from off the inside and was outrun. FEE AND SUGAR failed to menace off a ground-saving journey.
