Footnotes

PARADISE BY THE C forwardly placed soon after the start, angled in sharply, approaching the seven-sixteenths pole, impeding MCKENZIE RIVER and causing that rival to check and lose ground and momentum, reached the quarter pole, with a clear advantage and still placed towards the inside, swerved inward and outward several times from upper stretch to the sixteenth pole, appeared to finally settle down to the business at hand, from that point, and drew off quickly under a mild hand ride to the end. KARAKORUMKNOWITALL strung out four wide at the three-eighths pole, mustered up enough energy to get up for the place. WACHIWI took the inside route down the backstretch, was forced to steady when the top one swung over to the inside in the vicinity of the seven-sixteenths pole, regained momentum in short order and was taken outward at the three-eighths pole, turned into the stretch under encouragement and rallied for the show. ANNA MAE JONES bumped with the top one right after the start, then was checked due to inside pressure coming from MCKENZIE RIVER a couple of strides later, went on to take the overland route for most of the run around the turn, entered the stretch already having asked for run and held her ground reasonably well to the wire. ECOACH was taken in hand and pulled off a rival at the start, left the backstretch three wide, was taken in hand a second time in reaction to the erratic antics coming from PARADISE BY THE C, near the three-sixteenths pole, remained a prominent factor until the eighth pole before backing off. MCKENZIE RIVER vied for the lead along the inside, was checked hard when the top one was maneuvered over to the rail around the seven-sixteenths pole, failed to regain her best stride thereafter. UNBRIDLED TOGA never reached contention. THREE GRAND CITY raced along the outside and folded.
