Footnotes

SAY TOBA SANDY sat under a good hold chasing the loose leader from off the inside, was tipped three wide turning for home and asked for a response, overhauled the pacesetter a short distance past the eighth pole and edged away. AWEDACIOUS CAREN came out of the starting gate well and quickly cleared the competition, rated kindly on an open lead from the two path during the opening half, entered the stretch and was called upon, proved powerless to stave off the top one but continued onward willingly to secure second. VALENTINE DAISY raced along the inside, angled three wide into upper stretch, losing some ground and momentum before being straightened away, lacked the necessary response. MY NAN NELL (IRE) fought against the bit early, went on to save ground to no avail. UNRULY STORM raced along the outside in midpack, appeared to jump a shadow while in full stride approaching the five-sixteenths pole, had the rider lose at least the right iron and dangle precariously around the mount's neck for a short distance, professionally got back into the saddle and back on course to garner minor spoils. MORDECAI JONES off the rail, was outrun.
