Footnotes

FREUDIAN DILEMMA away well, assumed a forward position by midway down the backstretch, pressed the pacesetter near the two path, under a good hold, took off in earnest after the leader under much strong encouragement entering the stretch, forged to the front approaching the furlong marker, then dug in under good determination and under good handling to turn back the runner up and preserve the decision. DIGITAL JOE sat well reserved in the two path, continued to bide time during the initial half, was put to strong encouragement entering the stretch, swung inward after espying clear sailing along the rail in the vicinity of the three-sixteenths pole, was in the midst of a good rally, when bothered and forced to check in tight quarters, off heels at the eighth pole, deftly maneuvered outward, but not having lost some momentum, kicked in when fully roused a second time and closed in strongly for the place. BUDDY RED underwent a three wide pursuit, suddenly settled into stride leaving the furlong grounds, finishing with good, but belated energy. FIVESTAR KARAKORUM saved ground, fell back displaying sluggish action on the turn, then staged a mild comeback for the last major award. HOLD THAT MEMORY broke on top, was coaxed along carving the pace, placed slightly off the rail, turned for home in the two path, was still of the thick of things, although having already been displaced by the top one, when he came inward after being switched to the right handed stick, coming inward just enough to impede a rallying DIGITAL JOE, then went on to steadily tire shortly thereafter. UP ABOVE was never involved. CELLA MUFFLER hustled early, failed to reach a contending position. LEADING ARTICLE trailed.
