Footnotes

BUDDY SYSTEM advanced into a forward position early down the backstretch, bided time, perched four wide off an ongoing pace dispute, crept towards that embattled pair nearing the end of the run around the bend, was asked for a response coming to the three-sixteenths pole, raced on nearly even terms with the runner up from that station to the wire, poked a head in front past the eighth pole and clung to it, being kept busy. STELLARS THEORY dueled for command, from the three path, with KATHLEEN'S HALO, had just disposed of that opponent, when the top one ranged up in upper stretch, once again fought with determination, surrendered the lead between the furlong marker and the sixteenth pole but tried valiantly to the end to re gain it. HAPPY HAYA raced along the outside, angled to be widest off all at the head of the stretch and displayed a mild kick en route for the show. KATHLEEN'S HALO argued the pace from the two path for a half and gave way. MODERN GIRL dove for the inside coming to the half mile, saved ground thereafter and faltered.
