Footnotes

SATIN SUNSET brushed at least twice with GOD AH WATCH ME at the start, appeared undisturbed after the relatively insignificant contact and took up position in midpack, sat within range in the two path off a four way pace skirmish, needed to be asked for some run halfway around the turn to keep within striking distance, began to close in readily on the runner up leaving the eighth pole, got up at the wire, under hand urging. PEGASUS DIAMOND stumbled at the start, went on to assume a forward position, vied for command from between rivals in the three path during the run around the bend, emerged as the victor of the fight and turned for home with PERIMELE barely latched on, drew out to her biggest advantage venturing through the furlong grounds, felt the top one's presence with about a sixteenth to go, offered good resistance to the end but got nailed in the last jump. PERIMELE locked in combat on the turn from the two path with three others, got shaken off just before arriving at the quarter pole, continued onward with willingness to earn the show. RUMACK was guided over into the pocket leaving the backstretch, got set down a furlong down the road, mustered up a mild response after entering the stretch to mainly improve position. VICOLA chased three wide for most of the way on the turn, left the three-sixteenths pole a bit wider, tired. FALL INTO FAITH was pulled on the right rein by the pilot departing the gate and narrowly avoided becoming part of the bumping incident, saved ground until the five-sixteenths pole, angled outward to be three wide by the top of the lane, was a little ways into the stretch drive when tipped outward an additional three paths, failed to make any impact. INQUIRING was the widest of four disputing the pace on the turn, gave way. WILDICHI raced along the inside, was hounded by a threesome for nearly a half before backing away. CHUBBALITA'S JOY was steadied after being bumped at the start, with the end result of being a good four to five lengths behind the others a sixteenth into the race, raced along the outside and was outrun. GOD AH WATCH ME was taken in hand after making contact with rivals from both sides, with the heavier bumping occurring with the opponent from the right side, tucked along the rail shortly afterwards and was never in the hunt.
