Footnotes

CASHLEIGH got off a beat slowly, settled near the back of the pack from off the inside, was let out a notch and unleashed a four wide run from the five-sixteenths pole, maintained the momentum after turning for home, poked a head in front striking the eighth pole, drew clear under good handling. UNBRIDLED LOGIC was part of a tightly-bunched group making their way off the chute and onto the main course, got bumped as a result of the bottlenecked jam, was rated along in the middle of the field, talking the three path around each bend, got asked for a response entering the stretch, proved no match for the winner but continued onward willingly to secure second. O'PRADO OLE bobbled awkwardly leaving the starting gate, got bumped from between foes shortly afterwards, stalked patiently from off the inside, bobbled a second time, this time after taking a bad step after inadvertently finding a soft spot midway down the backstretch, got going again in short order, was set down for the start of the stretch run, moved inward and outward about one path at time weaving his way towards the finish line en route for the show. BELLARDO kept a watchful eye on the leader from the two path for nearly three-quarters, moved when reach and made a successful challenge to take over just as the field was headed into the stretch, got pounced upon the top one during the run through the furlong grounds, surrendered and steadily weakened. PUGET SOUND was the penultimate breaker after lunging at the start and was never involved. RETIRED brushed after the start, was under encouragement taking the three path for entrance into the stretch, came up empty. SEVEN AGAIN saved ground until the upper stretch, doing so under a firm hold early, had no rally after altering course. WRATH OF CONG quickly grabbed the advantage and was sent over to the inside, showed the way on a loosely-contested lead, relinquished readily when challenged late on the far turn and faltered.
