Footnotes

EXPRESSION was unhurried while taking the inside route in the early going, picked up interest when asked to at the five-sixteenths pole, altered course to the outside approaching the eighth pole, coming out enough to cause some interference with another pair, began to drift out again shortly afterwards from some left handed stick work, once again with some effect on PETIT TRIANON, whittled away at the lead, got up a few strides before reaching the wire and held on to the advantage, bumping with second place finisher as the event ended. D'PRINCESS worked her way to a narrow advantage by the end of the backstretch, sat entrenched in the two path, pilot atop with a snug hold on the reins for the opening half, got let out facing challengers turning for home, yielded reluctantly with under seventy yards remaining, then bumped with the top one in the vicinity of the finish line after coming out. PETIT TRIANON got carried out a bit by TRAIL WALKER as the field was sent on its way, departed from the backstretch from the three path, drifted about two paths wider into the stretch, got carried out while brushing with another rival with a furlong to go, shied outward in reaction to the errant ways of the winner for much of the final sixteenth. TRAIL WALKER gave chase from the three path, was herded out resulting in contact with others with an eighth to go, steadily tired thereafter.
