Footnotes

WICKAPECKO sneaked over into the pocket at the top of the turn, rode it until coming to the quarter pole, angled outward prior to the stretch run, was put to a drive and took off in earnest after the runner up, collared that rival a few strides past the eighth pole, then held BLUE BALLERINA at bay, kept to the task at hand. BLUE BALLERINA raced towards the two path, chose that path for entrance into the stretch as many of the other front runners were choosing much wider ones, came home with good energy en route for the place. MADRE DITUTTICAPI quickly tucked along the rail, showed the way well rated and only being loosely-pressed for a good portion of the opening half, was a couple of strides into upper stretch before asked for his best, yielded to the winner leaving the eighth pole and backed away. CONZIG swung five wide into upper stretch, lacked the needed response. BAAL PERAZIM saved ground for slightly more than a half, was on the move to the outside heading for the quarter pole, spun wider and wider until in the six path by the three-sixteenths pole, made no impact. MIDNIGHTINPOSITANO stalked the pacesetter from the outside and gave way. KISS AN ANGEL along the rail and under a drive at the five-sixteenths marker, faltered. KAITLYNS CAT was fanned seven wide to the three-sixteenths pole to no avail. MELODY LIN raced along the outside and was never in the hunt. BUNHEAD swung six wide into upper stretch, had little to offer.
