Footnotes

LIFE'S A ROAR came away from the starting gate with an apparent miscue and was tucked along the rail soon afterwards, set the splits, being rated along and with SULLIEABHAIN prompting one path to the outside, continued along on the same scenario until nearing the five-sixteenths marker, had the previously mentioned rival as well as the runner up crank up the pressure, waited slightly longer then got called upon for run, spinning into the lane as the innermost of the three front runners, began to shake free of HIDDEN VOW approaching the furlong marker, kicked away for good and edged away the last eighth under good handling. HIDDEN VOW assumed a forward position in the initial stages, chose the three path for the run around the far turn and moved up to increase his presence leaving the midway point, got staved off by the winner during the ensuing furlong, continued onward in willing fashion to secure the place. LURE OF THE SOUTH three wide and put to strong encouragement leaving the three-eighths pole, was blind sided by GRIFFIN ROCK, getting bumped by that opponent after being run into, showed no long lasting ill effects from that incident and rallied for the show. GRIFFIN ROCK sat reserved from off the inside in the opening stages, was under a strong drive prior to running smack into tight quarters, bumping both LURE OF THE SOUTH as well as MAGIC HARBOR, made a sustained rally after the occurrence to garner the last major check. MAGIC HARBOR raced towards the inside around the far turn, was bumped by GRIFFIN ROCK just before cutting the corner into the lane, flattened out. PROMISED DESTINY vacated the pocket in the vicinity of the five-sixteenths pole, fanned five wide into upper stretch and mustered up a mild response to mainly improve position. KOMISAREK raced along the outside and was never involved. SULLIEABHAIN was urged leaving the gate to secure a forward post, patiently stalked the top one, parked just off that one's hind quarters for the opening six furlongs, crept up along with second place finisher to boost up the pressure late on the far turn, kept up that pursuit from between opponents until near the top of the lane before backing away. SILVER SKATES failed to menace. MAXIECLIPSKY underwent a three wide journey, was through after a half and got eased.
