Footnotes

PULLMANITE tracked the leaders unhurried three wide in the opening stages, made a steady advance to striking position in that path on the far turn, drew on terms with the pacesetter in upper stretch and wore that foe down under firm encouragement to prevail in the final stages. MIRO sped to the fore from the break, dictated the pace along the inside to the far turn, grudgingly resisted the winner's bid but came up second best. SON OF TIGER, reserved between foes in the opening half, angled out four wide leaving the midway point of the far turn to challenge outside the winner but failed to maintain terms with that foe in the last quarter. TOCCET ROCKET, reserved in hand in the opening stages, angled to the inside entering the backstretch, saved ground throughout and made some mild progress to improve his position. BATTLE POWER was reserved along the inside in early stages, shifted out three deep nearing upper stretch but had no final response. SO ON AND SO FORTH, a bit rank and forced to steady momentarily racing just off the pacesetter along the rail on the first turn, shifted outside that foe to stalk the pacesetter to the far turn, then steadily faded from contention entering upper stretch.
