Footnotes

AWE HUSH hustled to the front shortly after the start, set a sharp pace traveling in the two path, was asked for more top of the stretch, responded willingly to increase margin, won comfortably being ridden out. PAY THE MAN broke well stalking the winner throughout, gave chase around the turn racing three wide and between rivals, failed to close the gap in the stretch but dug in late saving second place. SWEET TIA unhurried and trailed to top of the stretch, split rivals mid stretch, closed willingly picking up third place. DELAWARE TWITCH tracked down the backstretch, moved in tandem leaving the far turn, was caught out wide around the turn and into the stretch, lacked needed surge. PISKACHA pressed the winner down the backside, remained a threat to the quarter pole racing two wide and between foes, weakened from mid stretch. MOTEGA raced up close soon after the start saving ground, could not keep pace from the furlong marker, no late factor.
