Footnotes

HOUSE OF LEAVES assumed a forward position right from the start, disputed the pace from the two path around the turn, began to edge away from his nemesis after going halfway on it, got asked for a response entering the stretch, came under intense pressure after finishing the run through the furlong grounds while drifting towards the grandstand apron steadily, failed to shake loose during the ensuing sixteenth, momentarily appearing vulnerable, reached back for a little more and held on safely. CENTRIQUE rode the rail for nearly a half, angled outward before commencing the stretch run, closed in on the top one while drifting outward. THEATRE QUEEN sluggish in the opening stages, perked up noticeably late on the turn, unleashed a solid run from upper stretch to loom boldly by the eighth pole, remained a dangerous threat for an additional sixteenth before getting successfully staved off. PAWS UP broke to the outside far enough to make some inconsequential contact with the nearest opponent, raced from off the inside, swung four wide into upper stretch, lacked the needed response. BAYSHORE BLAZE argued for control, kept from off the rail until the end of the backstretch, fell back slightly starting from the three-eighths pole, was put to encouragement and mounted a re bid approaching the quarter pole, kept up that pursuit until midstretch before backing away. PRINCESS REYANA gave chase from the outside, was through after completing a half then was reported to have bled.
