Footnotes

BIGGER IS BETTOR sat reserved in midpack while taking the inside route, was put to encouragement slipping outward midway on the far turn, in time to steer past a tiring ALSTOM, began to narrow the gap, was already strongly roused splitting rivals near the five-sixteenths pole to sustain his bid, angled wider into the lane, eventually placed near the five path, gained ground steadily once straightened away, forged on ahead, closing in more rapidly after departing the furlong grounds, wore down the leader in deep stretch and edged away, kept to the task at hand. SOCIALSAUL chased afar three wide until the half mile pole, shadowed the pacesetter closer to the inside at that station and was asked for some run, closed the gap readily, sat well poised to make a serious bid, just off the leader's hind quarters by the three-eighths pole, made that move soon afterwards, wrestling away command as the field entered the stretch, lengthened away during the ensuing furlong, began to drift outward from the eighth pole to the sixteenth pole, despite having the rider apply a strong right hand whip to counteract, settled back on a truer course, but with the top one now lurking nearby a dangerous threat, got overhauled a few strides prior to the wire and had to settle for the place. PREACHINTOTHEDEVIL raced three wide around the both turns, was already under urging turning for home, altered course inward with about a sixteenth to go to clear the errant runner up, held on well to secure the show. SAILMATE underwent a three wide journey, and lacked the necessary stretch response. BOUND BY HUMOR sped off to a comfortable advantage during the opening stages, was content to show the way from the two path before tucking to the rail in time for the run around the far turn, felt some pressure for the first time just past the three-eighths pole, succumbed to it before reaching the end of that bend, tired steadily thereafter. SKY MUSIC was taken quickly to the inside after leaving the starting gate, was content to sit well reserved near the back of the pack, angled outward, under urging, leaving the half mile pole, to be placed three wide by midpoint, spun even wider into the stretch but had little left to offer. THIS HARD LAND raced along the outside and was outrun. ALSTOM faded off a ground-saving journey.
